

University
of St Andrews

Ireland, Scotland and the Problem of English Nationalism: from Home Rule to Brexit

Friday 1 June 2018, Parliament Hall, St Andrews, Institute of Scottish Historical Research.

Please join us for a one-day conference exploring the issue of English nationalism and its impact in both Ireland and Scotland since the late nineteenth century. All are welcome to attend; no registration required. If you have any queries, please get in touch at irl.scot.standrews2018@gmail.com

For more information please visit the conference website: <https://scotirelandconference.wordpress.com/>

facebook.com/siconf

twitter.com/s_i_conf

9.00-9.30 – Welcome, tea and coffee.

9.30-10.15 – Professor Colin Kidd, (University of St Andrews).
Protestant Sinn Féin: Ulster Unionism's Un-English Inflections.

10.15-10.30 – Tea and coffee break.

10.45-12.30 – Panel I.

Dr. Michael Kyle Thompson, (Pittsburgh State University).
English Carpetbaggers in Liberal Scotland: A Case Study of Edinburgh.

Seán Donnelly, (Teesside University).
English Nationalism and the Anglo-Irish Treaty.

Sarah Moxey, (University of Edinburgh).
"Since when was England an island...?" Anglophobic Letters to the Scottish Press During the Second World War.

12.30-1.45 – Lunch.

1.45-3.15 – Panel II.

Dr. Fiona Simpkins, (Université Lumière Lyon 2).

Scottish Conservatism and the English Dimension in Post-Devolution Scotland.

Dr. Paul Corthorn, (Queen's University Belfast).

Enoch Powell, Northern Ireland and the Debate over Devolution in the United Kingdom.

Robert Cairncross Johnston, (University of Edinburgh).

An English Revivalist in a Scottish Graveyard: Margaret Thatcher, the Conservative Party and the Scottish Question.

3.15-3.30 – Tea and coffee break.

3.30-4.30 – Panel III.

Amy Westwell, (University of St Andrews).

Tactical Tensions between Scottish and English Radicals in the 1790s.

Jordan Brown, (University of St Andrews).

Solidarity Deferred: BICO and the 1974 Ulster Workers' Council Strike.

4.30-5.00 – Professor Ewen Cameron, (University of Edinburgh).

Concluding remarks.

